Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-19 and 24-25 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Prior art either alone or in combination doesn't show or teach "defining a hierarchical arrangement for the plurality of object groups, the hierarchical arrangement comprising defined relationships between the first object group, the second object group, and the third object group and a plurality of levels to which the data objects in the set of data objects are assigned, the defined relationships comprising at least one of an overlapping relationship, a disjoint relationship, a one-to-one relationship, and an n-to-one relationship;

assigning graphic patterns to each of the defined relationships, the graphic patterns reflecting levels in the hierarchy;

generating a graphical structure for each data object in the set of data objects; generating a plurality of background regions, each of the background regions having one of the graphic patterns to correspond to one of the levels of the hierarchy;

generating a graphical user interface that comprises the graphical structures and the background regions with the graphical structures arranged in the background regions to reflect the levels of the hierarchy to which the data objects belong and the object group of the plurality of object groups that comprises each data object" in combination with other features.
